NATO Rocket-Atom Bases Planned

U.S. Proposal Would Bolster Atlantic Pact

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today unfolded an American plan for strengthening the Atlantic Alliance by creating a European network of rocket bases with stockpiles of atomic warheads.

This concept emerged at Dulles' news conference as a key proposal which he and President Eisenhower will lay before the Dec. 16 meeting at Paris of the North Atlantic Treaty heads of government.

Dulles told his news conference he and Eisenhower would try at Paris also to reinforce the Allies' confidence that America would fight if necessary but only if necessary.

The secretary said America's NATO commitment to treat any attack on one NATO member as an attack on all "is as strong as it could be made."

But he said the Allies are concerned on two counts—that America might be trigger-happy or, conversely, might fail to retaliate against any Soviet attack in Europe not directly involving U.S. troops there.

He ruled out giving any veto to Allied nations on U.S. policy, but he said a way must be found to convince them America would use nuclear weapons if necessary but would not misuse them.

In discussing his rocket-atomic bases proposal, Dulles said prototype arrangements of this kind are already being made with Britain and Canada. He said a similar series of intermediate-range missile bases, with nearby nuclear-warhead stockpiles, could be worked out with European countries in a continental defense system against a potential assault by Russia.

The first step—providing the 14 other NATO nations go along with the idea next month—would be a blanket NATO agreement, Dulles said. He added that executive agreements could follow with individual member countries.

Dulles said no treaty would be necessary for such bases and stockpiles and no change would be needed in the atomic energy law. This act prohibits handing over nuclear data or materials to foreign governments.

The secretary explained that the nuclear warheads would remain technically in U.S. hands. Training in their use would go forward among Allied forces in Europe. In the event of war, Eisenhower could hand over the warheads which could then be attached to the IRBMs for firing.

Ike's Third 'Chins Up' Address Set Nov. 26

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 19 (AP)—President Eisenhower will make the third in a series of "chins up" speeches to the nation from Cleveland Tuesday night, Nov. 26. The speeches, Eisenhower said last month, are intended to bolster America's confidence in its national security program in the light of Russian advances in the development of missiles and other space weapons.

The President made the first in the series of talks from Washington Nov. 7. The second he delivered in Oklahoma City on Nov. 13. Eisenhower's vacation headquarters announced plans today for the third speech in the series. Eisenhower plans to return to the capital from Augusta on Thursday.

Ex-Gestapo Chief Dies

KATZENELBOGEN, Germany, Nov. 19 (AP)—Rudolf Diels, first chief of the Nazi Gestapo and Hermann Goering's brother-in-law, died yesterday from a hunting injury. He was 56.

Police said Diels' rifle went off accidentally when he took it out of his car.

Speeding Train Leaves Rails, Smashes Buildings

Overturned cars of crack Montreal-Boston express of the Boston & Maine Railroad are shown after the speeding train left the track at an overpass crossing in Medford, Mass., yesterday.

Two persons were killed and more than a score injured in the wreck. Cars smashed one brick building flat and ripped out a 50-foot section of a four-story brick warehouse. (AP Photofax)

FBI Seizes 31 Cuban Rebels, Yacht In Raid

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 19 (AP)—A revolutionary force preparing to sail for Cuba in a yacht loaded with arms, medical supplies and military uniforms was seized by a raiding party of U.S. agents today in the Florida keys.

Three hours before the group had intended to sail at dawn, the raiding force led by customs agent W. B. Lankford took 31 Cubans into custody. They were jailed here on charges of conspiracy to violate the Neutrality Act and the National Firearms Act.

Lankford said the Cubans were loading the yacht Philmar III with machine guns, rifles, knives, machetes and other weapons when the agents surprised them on a dock at Piney Point, on the southern tip of Big Pine Key.

Plans of the group to sail to Cuba, presumably to augment the revolutionary forces of Fidel Castro, had been known for several days, Lankford said.

The 165-foot Coast Guard cutter Ariadne was moved up from Key West to block a possible attempt by the men to escape aboard the yacht. But the agents were able to handle the arrests and the cutter did not participate in the raid on the dock.

Lankford said the revolutionary force was the largest apprehended since Fulgencio Batista became dictator of Cuba after deposing President Carlos Prio Socarras in a bloodless coup in 1952. Batista in recent months has weathered a number of revolutionary movements.

Prio now lives in Miami and has been accused by Batista of financing gun-running to Cuba and otherwise supporting attempts of Batista's enemies to overthrow him.

$1-A-Pound Coffee Seen For Few More Months

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—American housewives apparently will be able to buy $1-a-pound coffee for a few months, at least.

A survey of trade sources here indicates prices are not likely to go up in that time. On the other hand, the welcome decline from prices around $1.15 at retail, which went into effect in August 1956, is not likely to go any further down.

Most experts expect prices of nationally advertised, vacuum packed coffee to stay at their current wholesale levels of about 90 cents a pound. This means America's favorite breakfast beverage should cost the housewife about $1—give or take a penny or so depending on the individual store's markup. Many chain stores have their own vacuum packed brands, which are about 10 cents cheaper, and bagged coffee in a general range of 73 to 83 cents a pound.

Allies To Get IRBMs Ahead Of Schedule

Ike To Speak In Cleveland November 26

AUGUSTA, Ga., Nov. 19 (AP)—Secretary of Defense McElroy said today he is "extremely hopeful" the United States will meet on schedule a commitment to start delivering 1,500-mile range missiles to Britain by 1959.

The Cabinet officer also told a news conference after a two-hour meeting with President Eisenhower that supplies of such intermediate (IRBM) missiles will be going to other North Atlantic Treaty nations—all within 1,500 miles of European Russia—earlier than had been expected.

McElroy did not say how much earlier.

He did not specify, either, just how early in 1959 the United States expects to start turning over intermediate missiles to the British. Indications in Washington were it will be quite early that year.

Secretary of State Dulles told a news conference there that 1,500-mile missiles will be available in operational quantities by the end of 1958.

Man Wed To Two Women Same Day Declared Insane

DETROIT, Nov. 19 (AP)—William T. Williams, 25, who married two women in one afternoon, was declared insane today by a Recorder's Court sanity commission.

Williams married Miss Shirley Petite, 22, at 1:30 p.m. July 18. He left her shortly after the ceremony and married Miss Ruby N. Ramey, 21, at 4:30 p.m. that same afternoon.

The duplication of wives was discovered when both charged Williams with nonsupport. He was convicted of bigamy Nov. 4. Recorder's Judge W. McKay Skillman today ordered Williams committed to Ionia State Hospital.

Wrecked Train Going Too Fast, Railroad Says

MEDFORD, Mass., Nov. 19 (AP)—A speeding Montreal-Boston express train — the Boston and Maine's Red Wing—derailed and was wrecked today at an overpass crossing in this suburban city six miles north of Boston.

Two were killed. More than a score were injured, none critically.

The accident occurred at the site of a roadbed reconstruction project, where railroad officials said, a restricted speed limit was in force.

The railroad statement said the train was traveling at "excessive speed."

W. Paul Duggan, general chairman of the B&M local of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, said the tape of the automatic speed recorder on the engine indicated it was going 70 m.p.h.

Duggan said a sign posting a 15 m.p.h. limit because of track repairs at the scene had been removed. He said 70 m.p.h. was the normal speed for a train at that point.

It was raining when the train left the tracks. The rails were torn up from the bridge back to a siding switch several hundred feet short of the overpass.

The front end of the double diesel locomotive jumped over the street then fell back with the rear end on the street. The remainder tilted at an angle against the masonry abutment.

The other half of the engine and several of the derailed cars smashed one brick building flat, and ripped out a 50-foot section of a four-story brick warehouse of the Converse Rubber Co. More than 50 workers were in the building, but none was near the damaged section.

The dead were engineer Harold J. Danforth, 65, of Somerville, and fireman George D. Murphy, 33, of Manchester, N. H.

Six children die in Detroit blaze

DETROIT, Nov. 19 (AP)—Six Negro children, ranging in age from 6 months to 6 years, died today when trapped by flames in a flat near downtown Detroit.

Five of the children were those of Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Sanders. A sixth was their grandchild.

Mrs. Sanders managed to escape from the flaming building. Her husband was at work in Ann Arbor.

Battalion Fire Chief Paul Seeloff led firemen into the blazing building in an attempt to save the children who were trapped in a bedroom and dining room. The children were pronounced dead on arrival at Receiving Hospital.

Seeloff said the entire second floor of the two-story building was ablaze when firemen arrived. He said the fire apparently started near a coal stove in the flat.

Red Courses Boycotted

VIENNA, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Hungarian Communist party newspaper said today some Budapest university students are boycotting political lectures in a silent war against forced indoctrination.

Nepszabadsag charged that "misled and misguided elements" in the philosophical and electrical colleges had led boycotts against courses in Marxism-Leninism.

Gift For Princess

LONDON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Princess Margaret today was presented with a $42,000 diamond brooch as a gift from Dr. J. T. Williamson, owner of a diamond mine in Tanganyika which she visited last year.

U.N. Adds 14 Nations To Its Disarm Group

Move To Head Off Russian Boycott Appears Futile

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 19 (AP)—The United Nations late today added 14 nations to its Disarmament Commission in what appeared to be a futile move to head off a breakdown in East-West negotiations.

The action took place in the 82-nation General Assembly, which also rejected terms laid down by the Soviet Union for its future participation in U.N. disarmament negotiations.

By a vote of 19 in favor and 38 against the Assembly turned down an Albanian proposal to enlarge the commission to 32 nations. The Soviet Union declared that only on this basis would it consider taking part in additional meetings of the commission.

Soviet Proposal Rejected

Then the Assembly voted 46 against and only 9 in favor of the Soviet proposal to make an 82-nation "little Assembly" out of the Disarmament Commission.

The Soviet Union insisted that the Assembly vote on the 82-nation commission when the Albanian move failed. Twenty-four nations abstained, including members of the Asian-Arab bloc.

In the final vote of the day the Assembly approved by a vote of 60-9 the proposal to add 14 nations to the commission, making it a 25-nation body. This was advanced by the West in the hope it would satisfy the Soviet demands for an enlarged commission. The only no votes came from the Soviet bloc.

Yugoslavia Raps Russia

Communist Yugoslavia did not take part in the voting, and afterward its delegate, Srđja Prica, arose in the Assembly to criticize the Soviet Union for not going along with the compromise.

Yugoslavia was one of the chief negotiators of the compromise and one of the sponsors of the approved resolution.

French Leader Wins Vote Test

PARIS, Nov. 19 (AP)—France's Parliament, rallied by the nation's pride over U.S.-British arms shipments to Tunisia, gave Premier Felix Gaillard a resounding vote of confidence tonight.

The vote was 256-182. It gave the austerity-minded young leader special powers to lay down the economic law as he sees fit. It means higher taxes for Frenchmen.

The vote was taken as civil servants, perhaps a million strong went on strike and shouted in the streets for higher wages.

In normal times, the economic issue might well have meant the ouster of Gaillard and his two-week-old government.

But when Gaillard went before the deputies with an appeal for support of the diplomatic authority of France, he was applauded—and this is rare—from all sections of the Assembly, the right, left and center. He voiced irritation over the American and British action in sending arms to Tunisia. Most Frenchmen feel these arms will be turned against them by Algerian rebels.

Gaillard said the Atlantic Pact (NATO) must be maintained but added: "The government has made all members of NATO understand that one cannot be allies in Paris and ignore each other elsewhere. The rights of France in Africa must be recognized."

Bandit Robs Gem Dealer Of $500,000 In Diamonds

DETROIT, Nov. 19 (AP)—A lone bandit fired tear gas into the face of a New York gem merchant today and escaped with a satchel which the merchant said contained cut and polished diamonds worth $500,000 wholesale.

Max Monderer, 47, the merchant, said the man missed another $500,000 worth of diamonds he carried in a case in his overcoat pocket.

Monderer told police he was a salesman for A. Monderer and Sons of New York. He lives at 320 Riverside Drive, New York City.

The salesman said the robbery happened at 8 a.m. just as he walked into the lobby of the Metropolitan Building in downtown Detroit to call on a customer. Several diamond merchants are located there.

Winds Hamper Midwest Snow Cleanup Task

(By The Associated Press)

Road crews tackled one of their biggest November snow cleanup jobs in years Tuesday in the wake of a blustery storm that paralyzed highway traffic, closed schools and damaged unharvested crops in parts of the Midwest.

At least 40 deaths were related to the widespread storm system that also triggered twisters in the South and damaging winds in the Midwest and East.

Monday's snowstorm left Black River Falls, Wis., buried under a 15-inch blanket. Dansbury, Wis., had 14 inches; Winona, Minn., 13 inches and Council Bluffs, Iowa, and Ames, Iowa, nearly a foot.

By late Monday the storm center had moved northeastward over eastern Lake Superior and snowfall had tapered off or halted throughout most of the storm-beleaguered area. However, snow continued in upper Michigan.

Strong winds whipped over the snow area, hampering cleanup efforts and causing some damage. Gusts winds up to 38 m.p.h. blew the roof surface off the airport administration building at Muskegon, Mich. Pellston, Mich., had wind gusts up to 63 m.p.h.

Deaths related to the storm since last weekend included Nebraska 6; Alabama 6, with 2 missing and presumed dead; Illinois 5; Minnesota 4; Wisconsin 4; Kentucky 4; Iowa 6, Mississippi 2, and Michigan 1.

Flood waters of the Little River receded swiftly to Hopkinsville, Ky., after inundating the downtown section to a depth of four to five feet. However, southeast Missouri battled its second major flood of the year. Counties of Dunklin, Pemiscot and New Madrid were hardest hit. Thousands of acres of cotton and soybeans were under water left by drenching rains.

Cold Canadian air swept southward to the Gulf but mild air spread northward along the Atlantic seaboard. Afternoon temperatures pushed into the 60s and 70s over much of New England and the Middle Atlantic states.

Typhoons Spotted Near Japan, Guam

TOKYO, Wednesday, Nov. 20 (AP)—Two tropical typhoons swirled over the Pacific today.

Typhoon Lola was spotted 325 miles southeast of Tokyo. But this storm that wrecked Guam last weekend was expected only to brush Japan as it moved north-eastward at 28 m.p.h.

The new typhoon Mamie was spotted by the Air Force 640 miles east-northeast of Guam at 6 a.m.

Dulles, Pineau Fail To Settle Arms Dispute

U.S., France Will Try To Work Out Common Policy

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The United States and France agreed tonight to try to work out a common policy with Britain and Tunisia governing future deliveries of arms to Tunisia.

Secretary of State Dulles and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau failed to resolve the angry dispute, which has split the Atlantic Alliance, in a three-hour meeting at the State Department.

But Pineau said they had decided "to seek a procedure" which would avoid the danger of guns and ammunition delivered to Tunisia falling into the hands of rebels fighting the French in neighboring Algeria.

A State Department spokesman then reported that the United States within the next few days will be in touch with Britain, France and Tunisia to "work out an approach as to arms deliveries in the future."

Shipments Suspended

The United States and Britain sent Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba 920 guns and more than 30,000 rounds of ammunition last week in the face of strong French protests. Diplomatic informants said that no further shipments are planned immediately.

Pineau told Dulles that the U.S.-British move had created a "great emotional reaction" in French public opinion and in Parliament.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said Dulles "explained to Mr. Pineau that we had obtained undertakings from the Tunisians" that the arms would be used exclusively for their internal security and self-defense and "we are sure they will cooperate."

White also said the result of today's meeting had been that each side understands the position of the other clearly and he added:

"Certainly we have no intention of shipping arms to the Tunisians as simply a way station on the way to Algeria."

"Cooling Off" Period

One effect of today's decision to try to work out a common policy, diplomats noted, will be to allow time for French anger to cool off. Authorities appeared reasonably hopeful that the dispute could be resolved and the gap in the Western Alliance closed before the North Atlantic summit meeting in Paris in mid-December.

Pineau announced after today's conference that he and Dulles had "studied means" to prevent the delivery of arms and ammunition from Tunisia to Algerian rebels.

As a result of their discussion on this point, he said, "it was decided to seek a procedure by which such dangers could be avoided to the maximum—as far as possible."

Informed officials said that this meant simply that today's agreement was merely the first step in trying to resolve the controversy and that there is no formula as yet for accomplishing that.

Dulles Will Fly West With Adlai

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The State Department announced tonight that Secretary of State Dulles is going to Chicago tomorrow to make a speech and Adlai E. Stevenson is making the trip with him.

Dulles will address the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations. State Department press chief Lincoln White said Stevenson, serving as Democratic consultant on Atlantic Alliance problems, would fly with Dulles on the U.S. Military Air Transport plane.

Illinois is Stevenson's home state and he decided to make a trip home on the Dulles plane. He is not expected to attend the session of the Council on Foreign Relations.

White said Stevenson canceled earlier plans to leave tonight for business appointments in New York City before going back home to Chicago. Aides said the New York appointments would be kept next Sunday or Monday.

White also said Stevenson would confer tomorrow morning with French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau. Stevenson sat in on Dulles' talks today with Pineau about the Tunisia arms question and American plans for strengthening the North Atlantic Treaty.

Girard Is Expected Home By Christmas

TOKYO, Wednesday, Nov. 20 (AP)—William Girard, the Illinois soldier convicted and given a suspended sentence by a Japanese court in the famous shellpicking shooting, had a good chance today of being home for Christmas after 10 months on the hot seat of an international controversy.

When the 22-year-old GI will be able to leave Japan will not be definite until after Dec. 3—the expiration date for appeals.

But the three-year, suspended sentence pronounced Tuesday for the killing of a Japanese woman scrap collector is expected to stand.

Girard, who will have the final say whether his lawyers appeal, told newsmen he hasn't made up his mind.

His Japanese lawyer, Itsuro Hayashi, first said he would appeal if it were up to him. But after conferring with Girard he told newsmen the defense does not intend to appeal unless the prosecution does.

The government is not expected to use its right to appeal despite a rising murmur of protest among Japanese that the court was too lenient for the Jan. 30 shooting of Mrs. Naka Sakai.

Two major newspapers, Asahi and Yomiuri, took a dim view of the suspended sentence in otherwise laudatory editorials treating the case as virtually closed.

Legislators' Reaction
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Several members of Congress said today they believed Army Specialist 3.C. William S. Girard got easier treatment from a Japanese court than he would have received from a U. S. Army court-martial. But some of them added that they still held the view Girard should not have been turned over to the Japanese for trial.

And one, Rep. Bow (R-Ohio), said he would continue his efforts to revise the status-of-forces agreements under which American military men may be tried in foreign courts in certain types of cases.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) was one of the lawmakers who said Girard probably would have been given a stiffer penalty if tried by U. S. military procedures. This also was the view of Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), who joined Flanders in stating that the case showed the worth of the status-of-forces agreements.

State Expands Future Plans For Park Land

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Department of Forests and Parks said today it is expanding its future plans for acquiring land because population estimates already are outdated.

Director Joseph F. Kaylor said the department's revisions should be ready for presentation in detail to Gov. McKeldin and the General Assembly before the legislative session beginning in February.

Some estimates have put population of the Baltimore-Washington area at eight million by the turn of the next century and Parks Supt. William A. Parr said, "We ought to be getting the land now."

The state now has about 16,000 acres. Parr estimated two years ago that Maryland would need 48,000 acres to meet a state population of 4½ million by 1970-75.

Parr also said future park lands in Central Maryland must be acquired within five or 10 years "if we're going to get it at all."

Human Butcher Probe Reveals More Horror

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 19 (AP)—The horrifying story of grave robbery and butchery by a 51-year-old bachelor exploded into still more horror today when the sheriff of a neighboring county declared he recognized one of the skulls found in a secluded farmhouse as that of a long-missing woman.

And the director of the state crime laboratory refused to tell newsmen whether he had brought 10 heads to the lab for study "because there may be more than 10."

Charles Wilson, head of the crime laboratory, made his statement after Edward Gein was brought here for lie detector tests. Sheriff Herbert Wanserski of Portage County told newsmen here that "I absolutely do not believe" that Gein gathered the assortment of skulls and grisly human remains from cemeteries near Gein's Waushara County home.

Wanserski, who said he took part in the investigation of Gein's activities since it was touched off by discovery of Mrs. Bernice Worden's eviscerated body on Gein's farm Saturday night, told newsmen: "We have found the face and head of Mary Hogan among the objects in Gein's farm house."

Mrs. Hogan was a 54-year-old Portage County divorcee who disappeared in December 1954 from the rural tavern she operated at Bancroft—some six miles from Gein's Plainfield farm.

Gein admitted butchering the 58-year-old Mrs. Worden Saturday after dragging her bloody corpse from the hardware store she operated in Plainfield.

Novotny Named Czech President

VIENNA, Austria, Nov. 19 (AP)—Broad-faced Antonin Novotny, who as a boy sold Communist newspapers on Prague street corners, became president of Red Czechoslovakia today.

The 53-year-old party boss succeeded Antonin Zapotocky who died last Wednesday and was buried yesterday.

Novotny's election by the Red-ruled Czech Parliament was proclaimed by a cannon salute from the bastions at ancient Hradcany Castle.

The vote was by the traditional — and unanimous — raising of hands in the rubber-stamp parliament. Novotny thus became the nation's president as well as party secretary.

A parliamentary delegation hustled to the home of the former mechanic to tell him he had been elected. It apparently was no surprise to him. He was considered the chief prospect who had only to give the word that he would accept.

17 Scottish Miners Killed In Blast, Fire

MURKIRK, Scotland, Wednesday, Nov. 20 (AP)—Seventeen miners were reported killed in an underground explosion and fire last night at the Kames colliery.

A spokesman for the National Coal Board, operator of the mine, said two bodies were recovered by rescue workers and 15 trapped men were given up for dead today.

Four men in the same group survived, suffering burns. The world's largest periscope, a 90-foot aluminum tube with intricate mirror and lens system, permits atomic workers to sit safely behind heavy shielding while watching tests of nuclear energy.

Newspaper Reading Up, TV Viewing Down In L.A.

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Mirror-News says a survey shows Los Angeles residents are reading newspapers more and watching television less than they did two years ago.

The newspaper said 4 out of 10 persons interviewed reported the time they spend in front of TV screens has declined in the past two years. On the other hand, the paper said, fewer than 2 out of 10 (19 per cent) reported spending more time on TV now than in 1955.

During the same period, the report said, the amount of time devoted to newspapers increased among 32 per cent of those interviewed and decreased among 27 per cent.

Five Persons Killed In Car-Truck Crash

ALBEMARLE, N.C., Nov. 19 (AP)—Five persons, two of them women, died today when an auto and a heavy truck carrying an earth-moving machine collided near the Pee Dee River bridge six miles east of here.

Two other persons were hospitalized here, one of them seriously hurt. An eighth person walked away from the flaming crash apparently unhurt.

The State Highway Patrol said the cab of the truck-trailer carrying the heavy bulldozer caught fire and burned the driver to death beneath the steering wheel.

Trial Delayed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—Trial of a suit brought by 13 New York area rank-and-file members of the Teamsters Union seeking to invalidate the election of James R. Hoffa as national president has been postponed to Dec. 2. The suit had been scheduled for trial Nov. 26.

The survey was directed for the paper by Walter H. Eaton, a syndicated columnist.

Those reporting a decline in TV interest gave these reasons:

They have less time for TV because of job or family responsibilities. They've become more selective in their viewing. They've turned to other activities. They find TV's novelty has worn off. They object to TV advertising. They say the kiddies monopolize the set.

Those spending more time on TV said they have more time, have nothing else to do, are lonesome, find it relaxing.

Those whose newspaper reading has increased said they have become more interested in what's going on, have more time to read, find newspapers more interesting, find today's events more important.

Those reading less said they are too busy to devote much time to the papers.

Hoffa Wiretap Trial Will Begin Friday

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Teamsters Union boss James R. Hoffa's federal court trial on wiretap charges today was scheduled to begin Friday.

Hoffa is charged with conspiring to illegally tap the telephones in the Teamsters Union's Detroit office so he could eavesdrop on underlings. The same federal grand jury that returned this indictment also charged him with perjury in his appearance before it.

The perjury case was to have been tried first. But it has been held up by a legal technicality now before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Textile Union Ordered To Fire General Counsel

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The United Textile Workers Union today was ordered by an AFL-CIO agent to fire its general counsel Joseph Jacobs, Atlanta attorney.

The action was ordered by Peter M. McGavin, appointed by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee to take over direction of the union after the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee heard accusations of improper practices against some Textile Workers officers.

Jacobs earlier had been removed from his post as Southern director of the union.

The order by McGavin, who is assistant to the president of the AFL-CIO, said Jacobs should be removed because of his close connection with Anthony Valente, former president, and Lloyd Klenert, former secretary-treasurer of the Textile Workers. Both have resigned since the Senate inquiry.

Testimony before the Senate committee was that union funds were used to buy homes for Valente and Klenert, both residents of Washington. Both men said they have repaid the money to the union. An audit of union funds was ordered by McGavin. Valente resigned at a recent meeting of the UTW Executive Council and said his action was aimed at keeping the UTW in the AFL-CIO.

Klenert resigned after obtaining an agreement for payment of $104,000 severance pay over 20 years.

Probe Told Restrictions Slowed Missile Program

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—House investigators were told today the United States might be developing missiles faster if exchange of information were not kept under such heavy restrictions.

The opinion was offered by Dr. Clifford C. Furnas, former assistant secretary of defense for research and development, to a House subcommittee investigating secrecy in government.

Furnas said he thinks better systems of trading information among development teams in the various services could be devised, especially if more freedom were allowed in talking about projects in their early stages. He criticized the rigid application of the "need-to-know" rule, under which two scientists working on different projects couldn't talk shop about either unless they could demonstrate a need to know.

Pressed for specific examples, Furnas, who resigned in February after more than a year in the Pentagon, said he recalled there were always delays in information-swapping briefings in the program to develop missiles to fight enemy missiles. Two or three months would pass without a comprehensive briefing, he said.

In guided missiles generally, he said, the interval between briefings stretched out to a year—hardly often enough, he commented, to exchange data in the planning stage.

The Air Force and Army, working separately on intermediate-range ballistic missiles, had no interservice briefings while he was at the Pentagon, he said.

Stassen Says U.S. Can Take Space Race Lead

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 19 (AP)—Presidential disarmament adviser Harold E. Stassen said today he considers the United States less than one year behind in outer space research.

In a prepared speech for the 91st annual convention of the National Grange, the former Minnesota governor said he believed with sound action "we should be able to move ahead" in the next five years.

He appealed for "new unity of America in support of our President."

German Home Guard

BONN, Germany, Nov. 19 (AP)—West Germany plans to raise a home defense force of about 70,000 men, a Defense Ministry source said tonight.

This would be in addition to the 12 divisions, totalling about 250,000 men, being provided for NATO.

The elegantly styled Edsel is the newest looking car you'll see on the road this year. But more important to you as a car buyer, the Edsel is new all over.

New all over means the already-famous power of the big, new V-8 Edsel Engines. It means the option of new Teletouch Drive, the most talked-about feature in years. It means the safety of self-adjusting brakes. Even the luxurious comfort of the first genuine contour seats. Yet, with all these important advances, Edsel prices are the lowest in the whole medium-price field!*

Satellite Re-Entry Given Soviet Priority

MOSCOW, Nov. 19 (AP)—A Soviet newspaper said today Russian scientists are working on two methods of bringing an artificial satellite back to earth.

The Communist party journal Leningrad Pravda said the program has been given top priority.

It said there were two possible solutions for bringing a Sputnik back to earth:

1. By bouncing it off the earth's atmosphere; after repeated bouncings it would slow down enough to enter the earth's atmosphere without burning up.

2. By using atomic-propelled rockets to throw the Sputnik into reverse.

Of the two methods, the paper said, the first seemed the simpler. However, it added, it would be difficult to land the Sputnik at a prescribed destination on earth.

The second method is tremendously complex but would permit the dropping of the Sputnik exactly where the scientists wanted, the paper said.

Employees Salary Study Being Planned By City

The Mayor and Council voted Monday to make a salary study of the city payroll in general in an effort to find out where adjustments are needed based on service, worth to the city and knowledge of various jobs.

The vote was 4-1 on the proposal which came about when an order was introduced to name Charles R. Scarlett as assistant engineer at a starting salary of $5,000 with $200 increases for the next three years until a maximum of $5,600 was reached.

There was no vote on the appointment.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz said he did not question the appointment of Scarlett but said in connection with the $200 increase for the next three years, that there are many things to be considered before taking this action. He said the Finance Department should look into records and see what effect such a move would have on other departments. He said there are employees who have been with the city for years who are also in line for salary adjustments.

Buchholz said he had advocated such a setup as that proposed for Scarlett for years but that it should be a basis for adjustment for other employees as well.

Mayor Roy W. Eves voted "no" to the wage study motion but he explained he was not actually voting against such a study but voicing his objection against council's deferring the Scarlett appointment.

He said the city has talked about such a wage study for years and done nothing. He said the head of a department (City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum) was proposing the appointment in looking to future security of his department and it might be a good example for other departments to do likewise. Other employers look to the future, he added.

In asking the Finance Department to conduct the study, Buchholz said some level or happy medium has to be reached and that everybody should get consideration. In explaining that this had no direct connection with Monday's action, Buchholz said he had been thinking that the Street and Engineering Departments should be combined.

Finance Commissioner John J. Long, who with City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan were authorized to make the study and submit recommendations, pointed out the present Mayor and Council is nearing the end of its term in office (July, 1958) and he believed it would be worthwhile if council could complete a study of position, pay and needs of the Engineering Department. He said it should include the amount of money paid to outside engineering consultants in addition to the salaries paid employees of the department.

Then addressing Nuzum, Long said he wanted him to understand that his stand "is not a matter of personalities" but that his department sees the amount paid for outside engineering.

He added that with all due respect to Nuzum, the Mayor and Council should have respect enough for his position that it should not have to go outside for engineering help.

Nuzum pointed out to Long that outside consultants on recent jobs were hired before 1952, the year Nuzum was appointed city engineer.

Nuzum said his department has a four man surveying party, one draftsman (no replacement has been appointed for the late John Treiber), one inspector and a clerk who assists in a number of things. He said he was trying to anticipate needs and a great deal of work will be involved in relocating utilities in connection with the crosstown expressway.

After the vote was taken, Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan turned to Nuzum and told him that in the future such orders should be presented to council. Previously, he had claimed that nobody had "said anything to us" about it and Eves told him they were on the table at the pre-council session and no one asked for a discussion.

Eves said, in referring again to the fact the orders were in evidence at the pre-council meeting, that other members of council "were very silent down there" but start an argument up here (in the council chamber).

He said he did not "like the inference that these orders are a surprise party." Then, he added, if members of council had asked the orders be deferred they would have been held back to permit further study.

In view of the discussion on the Scarlett order, another which

County Inks CD Agreement

An agreement was signed by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to participate in a regional Civil Defense program in times of emergency.

William G. Barger, director of Civil Defense in Allegany County, met with the county board today along with Lawrence H. Crickeberger, Frederick, planning coordinator for the regional setup which includes Allegany, Washington, Garrett and Frederick counties.

Barger said the four counties have cooperated on a mutual basis in the past but the new program is more firm and will provide for each county to aid the other in times of emergency when the problem can not be handled by any county alone.

The new program simply makes the Civil Defense plan more efficient and workable in times of any emergency. Barger pointed out.

The board also received a request from Lawrence Mallory, Lower Town Creek Road, that a small culvert type bridge in that area be repaired. He said it is unsafe for any large vehicles. The matter was referred to J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor.

The commissioners also decided to have the various offices at the Court House designated with the proper lettering. There have been a number of offices transferred in recent months, such as the county board from the first to second floor. The directory in the Court House lobby will also be changed to conform with the new office locations.

would have named Roy James Hartell as draftsman was deferred. His salary would be $3,900.

Dr. Van Strien Meets With Co. Commissioners

Dr. Tom van Strien, county health officer, met with the Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday to discuss his duties as the new health official.

The commissioners will meet with Dr. van Strien November 29 at 8 p. m. as a board of health to go over any problems which exist.

Dr. van Strien at that time will also report on a meeting he will attend next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Baltimore at which officials of the State Department of Health will discuss the workings of the various county units under the Case Commission formula.

Dr. van Strien told the commissioners state officials want to obtain information on how the program is working in Allegany County. The data he needs consists not only of administration and by using the machine they could be handled speedily.

Tawes, Sybert Supported By Democrat Petitioners

Democrats of Allegany County are circulating a number of petitions in support of the candidacies of Comptroller J. Millard Tawes for the nomination for governor and C. Ferdinand Sybert for attorney general.

The petitions state: "Mr. Tawes is now state comptroller, a position he has held with distinction upwards of 16 years and his outstanding abilities were recently recognized by his election as president of the National Association of State Auditors, Comptrollers and Treasurers.

"Mr. Sybert has made a splendid record during his first term as attorney general and prior to that he won widespread public approval as state's attorney for Howard County, as speaker of the House of Delegates and as state senator. In addition, his unselfish action in withdrawing as a candidate for governor in the interests of party harmony, will certainly commend him to the rank and file Democrats like ourselves who are interested in securing a Democratic victory in 1958.

"Next to the governorship, Mr. Tawes and Mr. Sybert now occupy the two highest positions in the state government, each of them is fully familiar with the state's affairs and they were elected to their respective positions as Democratic candidates in 1954. Their election to govern-

Presbyterian Men Will Hear Labor Leader Tonight

The Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church will sponsor a dinner today at 6:15 p. m. in the church recreation hall.

William F. Schnitzler, secretary-treasurer of the AFL-CIO unions, of Bethesda, will speak.

J. Wallace Close, vice president of the club and chairman of the dinner program, said the advance sale of tickets has been good. The affair is open to the public.

John G. Thomas, president of Celanese Local 1874, TWUA, and a member of the First Presbyterian Men's Club, will introduce Schnitzler, who, after taking his first job on a peddler's wagon when he was ten years old, worked his way to the presidency of the Bakers and Confectioners International Union, and later helped to achieve the merger of the 15-million-member AFL-CIO.

Ross H. Petty is president of the eight-year-old sponsoring club. Assisting with arrangements for the dinner are William P. Wendt, Daniel Eisenberger, John Cook and William H. Johnson.

Close said the club first started to schedule national figures as speakers three or four years ago.

Attending were cafeteria workers from Fort Ashby High, Keyser, Northern High, Southern High, St. Mary's, Accident, the home economist from the Potomac Edison Company and representatives of the area bakeries.

Dishes prepared by Miss Arnold included a Fricadella pie, peach bread pudding, Danish apple-pecan pudding, bacon-cheeseburger and chili burgers.

B&O Blacktops South End Area

The question of whether the B&O or city is to blacktop a street area for a property owner on Laing Avenue was answered yesterday.

Street Commissioner William H. Buchholtz said the railroad is to blacktop a street area giving C. W. Johnson, 207 Laing Avenue, egress and ingress to his property. The B&O had agreed to do so in connection with the closing of several streets and alleys about 200 years.

A date palm will bear fruit for Johnson had appeared before council Monday to determine when the work was to be done and by whom. City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum contacted B&O officials yesterday and said they were doing the work under the previous agreement. No cost to the city is involved.

Marking the 20th anniversary of the sorority, it was voted to furnish a children's section at the Woodman's home in Sherman, Texas, to honor Mrs. Ruby Gene Sewell, Flint, Mich., co-founder and first president until 1946, when she became a national director.

Miss Ruby Doris Little, Georgia, was nominated as president; Mrs. Jean Howard, California, and Mrs. Jean Hartman, Fairmont, W. Va., vice presidents; Miss Patricia Nickeldorf, Tennessee, chaplain; Mrs. Carline Paul, California, historian; and Mrs. Patricia DeMoss, Michigan, warden.

The history of the sorority was traced by Mrs. Florence Jensen, Omaha, Neb., at the presidential dinner, Saturday evening. She also outlined plans for the future. Mrs. Evelyn Joyce, Indiana, was in charge of the Hall of Fame, when Mrs. Sewell was honored. Miss Mildred Cole, Grafton, was selected "Beauty Queen." Mrs. Hartman participated in the contest. The West Virginia-Maryland Chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Frances Hartman, Keyser, sang "Lovely To Look At," and "You'll Never Walk Alone." Miss Virginia Peters, Grafton, was named "Outstanding President."

Based on activities and membership work, Mrs. Mary Hamilton, Charleston, W. Va., was named "Ideal Sorority Sister," and the chorus sang a parody on "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." Mrs. Faye Littman, Grafton, was honored as "Mrs. Go Getter," for organizing and maintaining 22 chapters in her territory, including Cumberland. In her honor, Mrs. Hartman sang, "My Task." Each honored received an engraved loving cup.

Jota Pi was in charge of the decorations at Carvel Hall in Annapolis for the sorority luncheon. The theme "Harvest of Blessing" was carried out with horns of plenty filled with fruits and nuts were combined with centerpieces of waxed leaves and wheat. Words of three fall songs and musical characters were interspersed along the table. Favors were pine cone turkeys. Miss Grace Bartlett, Grafton, was chairman. The day included a chapel service, sightseeing, group singing and a talk on the history of the academy and Annapolis.

The convention closed Monday following a business meeting and reception at the Chinese embassy. The Ladies Altar Society of St. Luke's Lutheran Church will hold a ham and oyster supper with a bazaar and bake sale tomorrow from 5 until 7 in the church social hall.

St. Mary's Mothers Club will meet at 8 tomorrow night in the church hall. The sixth grade mothers will serve refreshments.

Group Hears Review Of Prize Award

Mrs. William C. Van Newkirk was the speaker at the meeting of the Literature Group of the Woman's Civic Club. She reviewed the book, "By Love Possessed," written by James Gould Cozzens.

Mrs. Van Newkirk said that it was the October Book of the Month Club selection. She also reported many critics thought it an outstanding book, while others felt it is a very difficult book to read.

She pointed out that it is a long, involved story, though the action of the book takes place in two days. The speaker said some of the defects in the story are in its peculiar style, long involved sentences and lack of emotion. The characters are not clear cut, and the strength, also the weakness of the story, is because everything is seen through the eyes of Arthur Winner Junio, the main character in the book.

Mrs. Van Newkirk pointed out that James Gould Cozzens has written 11 novels and many short stories. He has won the O Henry Memorial award twice and in 1943 was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for his best seller, "Guard of Honor." "By Love Possessed," seven years in the writing, is his first novel since then.

Total Of 350 "Special Days" Next Year

By ARTHUR EDSON
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (AP)—The U.S. Chamber of Commerce joyously reported today that we can truly celebrate in happy 1958. Glorious occasions tumble over each other as this nation observes such events as National Long Underwear Week Nov. 16-23, National Sidewalk Superintendents' Day April 12, and National Pickle Week May 22-31. Each year the chamber carefully totes up the legal and religious holidays, plus the many special days, weeks and months. Next year's list hits a staggering 350. Most of these have a simple economic motive behind that cheery exterior. They're designed to hustle up business. National Long Underwear Week, for instance, is sponsored "to re-establish the wearing of long underwear as a healthy, comfortable garment for men of all ages." Others are harder to figure. The Society of Sidewalk Superintendents of Winnetka, Ill., has its day "to encourage relaxation and refreshment through the occasional idle moments stolen while the world works and hurries." And the National Pickle Packers Assn sponsors Pickle Week in an effort "to spoof, to add laughter, to add fun to this tired old world and to honor the pickle peddler, Amerigo Vespucci, for whom this continent was named." Let's not bother over how spoofing and Vespucci got into pickle packing. Let's just laugh and have fun. Speaking of laughter, 1958 should be a splendid year for it. In addition to the gay picklers, we have such side-splitting moments as American Comedy Week April 14-20, featuring National Fun Day April 18. We get in shape for that during National Laugh Week April 7-14. If this proves too heady, if you're of the chuckle-chortle school, you may be interested in Save the Fun Week Jan. 5-12, or Smile Week March 10-15. The chamber notes that for the first time there's a Bachelor's Day, Feb. 28, to go with Old Maids' Day, June 4. If bachelor meets maid and matrimony results, the future is assured. In due time the happy, laughing pair can celebrate Expectant Fathers' Day, then Fathers Day, then, as the child matures and marries, Father-in-law Day and finally Grandparents Day. What an age in which to live: Cinchona bark, which produces quinine, was known two centuries ago as Jesuit bark.

Beer Bottle Divorce Decree Is Reversed

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Court of Appeals today refused to uphold a divorce granted to a Baltimore longshoreman whose wife had hit him on the head with a beer bottle. The high court reversed a Baltimore County Circuit Court decree granting an absolute divorce to Foster D. Trout, 65. The appeal had been filed by his wife, Mrs. Myrtle F. Trout, 45, of Hyde Md.

The high court's opinion noted testimony by the husband that his wife had assaulted him on several occasions and finally hit him with a beer bottle and cut his head. Trout testified that he went to the hospital for treatment and never returned home.

Mrs. Trout admitted hitting her husband with the bottle in 1951 but swore he had her by the throat at the time. Circuit Judge John B. Gontrum, who granted Trout the divorce, said he thought the husband had made out a case of constructive desertion. Judge Gontrum said he felt "for their best interests and interest of society and the state generally, they ought to be separated."

But the appellate judges said "divorces cannot be granted because of incompatibility of social desirability, unless the testimony measures up to the legislative grounds."

Bridge Bids Opened

BALTIMORE, Nov. 19 (AP)—E. D. Plummer and Sons of Chambersburg, Pa., was apparently low bidder today on repair work on the Potomac River Bridge at Williamsport, Md. The State Roads Commission announced the bid opening. The $38,590 bid was for strengthening steel girders, bituminous concrete wearing surface, cleaning, painting, etc.

Electricity For Tokyo

TOKYO, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Tokyo Power Co., has begun building a 175-million-dollar steam powerhouse. Officials say it will be the largest in the Orient. The plant is to develop 1,060,000 kilowatts—enough for all Tokyo outlets except factories—when all units are completed in 1966.

Skill in the playing of the bagpipe is promoted by various Highland societies in Scotland.

Fugitive Arrested By FBI In Baltimore

BALTIMORE, Nov. 19 (AP)—The FBI today arrested a 38-year-old man in a tavern brawl for fleeing Pennsylvania to avoid prosecution on a charge of assault with intent to kill. U.S. Commissioner Ernest Vol-kart set bail at $10,000 for Melford H. Marshall, handy man under indictment in Lancaster. He has been living in Cockeysville just outside Baltimore, and his former address in Pennsylvania was R.D. 2, New Holland. Marshall, a Negro, is accused of shooting and seriously wounding another man in a tavern brawl in March, 1955. He was arrested at a country club where he had been doing odd jobs. The FBI said Marshall had bragged that he would not be taken alive and would take arresting officers with him when he died. In China, Loi women have their rings tattooed on the backs of their hands.

More Yugo Refugees

VIENNA, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Interior Ministry reports 13,450 refugees from Communist-ruled Yugoslavia have been officially registered in Austria so far this year. That's about triple the rate last year, when 5,289 Yugoslavs arrived in 12 months. One out of every six automobile drivers in the United States has eye defects without realizing it. Benjamin Thompson invented the coffee dripolator.

Arundel Commissioners Rule Jai Alai Arena Legal Under Gambling Statute

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 19 (AP)—The once and for all answer to the question as to whether or not this ers repeated today that they consider a jai alai arena equally as legal as bingo, carnivals, raffles, amusements devices, etc., slot machines, pin-ball machines is legal in Anne Arundel County, Md.

"It is our opinion that if any And they hinted that any court of the foregoing are illegal or im order barring jai alai might lead moral then all must be consid to abolishment of all gambling in the county, excluding horse race wagering which is regulated by the state.

The commissioners last Tues day set up machinery for licens ing a jai alai fronton with pari mutuel betting, and a $100,000 li cense was issued the next day to Auditoriums, Inc.

Protests immediately arose, and two suits have been filed in Cir cuit Court to block establishment and operation of the proposed L. Lowman, board president, but $3,000,000 fronton near Ft. Meade, it was eventually handed out in Today, the commissioners said behalf of the board.

"We believe that a decision by Last Tuesday the commission the courts in this matter will ers voted 5-2, with one absent, to legalize pari-mutuel betting on jai alai (pronounced hi li). At a protest meeting two nights later they voted 4-3 against rescinding their action, Commissioner Hen ry C. Wigley, who withheld his vote at the protest meeting, said today he wanted to be recorded in favor of revoking the jai alai authorization. That made the vote 4-4 officially but still not sufficient to rescind.

Today's statement by the com missioners recognized a group of jai alai opponents "who are sin cere in their intention to work for the best interest of the county" but blasted "a small group of selfish opportunists who have po litical reasons for involving them selves in the controversy."

The commissioners said the first group "has every right to express its viewpoint and to con test the licensing of this facility," an the board welcomes the sin cere expression of views by these people."

The other group, the commis sioners said, "are considering none of the real issues involved, i.e., legal, moral, financial and recreational. Their only purpose the measure to further their own political ambitions.

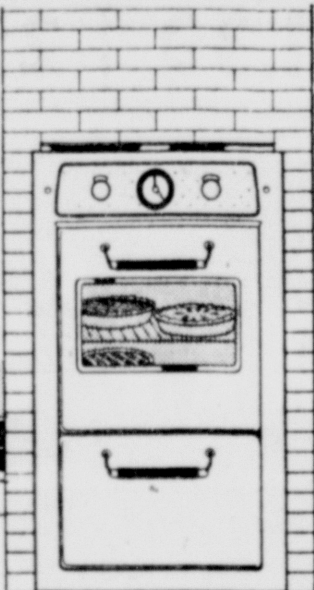

"In fact, some of these oppor tunists in the past have had no qualms when it came to aligning themselves closely with similar interests and the board believes the sincere opponents of the mea sure will recognize the motivation of these people," the statement said.

The statement described the backers of the jai alai project as men "who feel that they have every legal right to construct and operate the proposed facility and that it will provide many ad vantages to the county in terms of tax revenue and recreation.

EASTON, Md., Nov. 19 (AP)—The Talbot County Grand Jury has in dicted two Easton residents on charges of conspiracy in connection with picketing at public schools last September.

L. Francis Berry and Mrs. Elsie Andrew, members of the Talbot Citizen's Assn., were named in the indictments yesterday. The as sociation has fought integration in the county's schools.

Charges specify that Berry and Mrs. Andrew conspired to induce children to absent themselves from school, prevent enrollment of children, disturb and picket a public school and intimidate the school board and teachers.

Eastern Grand Champion Steer To Go On Block

TIMONIUM, Md., Nov. 19 (AP)—A 14-month-old Aberdeen Angus steer never exhibited before today won the Grand Champion award of the Eastern National Livestock Show.

But public display apparently will be short lived for Ankeny Royal McBee, entered by Miss Katherine Losee and Ankony Farm of Rhinebeck, N. Y. Ankeny's 1,091 pounds will be auc tioned tomorrow as the main event of the 11th annual show at the State Fairgrounds. Then he'll be chopped up for steaks.

Miss Losee, who showed Ankeny Royal McBee, is something of a newcomer to exhibiting, herself. She had entered an animal in only one previous major livestock com petition, the Eastern here last year. Earlier, she had exhibited in 4-H Club competition in New York State.

The runner-up Grand Champion was also an Aberdeen Angus, named Penn State Bardolier II and shown by Penn State Uni versity.

Other finalists were the top 4-H Club and FFA exhibits, an Aber deen Angus owned by Tim Mittell of Sandy Spring, Md., and Re serve Hereford owned by Gene Mullinix of Woodbine, Md.

The Grand Champion Aberdeen Angus bull was Prince of Red Gate 102 owned by Edward Jen kins of Millwood, Va. Reserve Grand Champion in that category went to Whitney Bardolier VI, owned by C. V. Whitney, the well known thoroughbred horseman, of Old Westbury, Conn.

In later judging today, a bar row entered by C. Russell Galbreath of Streett, Md., won the Grand Champion in that category award. Reserve Grand Champion was a barrow owned by Cedar Grove Farms of Queenstown, Md.

Washington Co. To Hire Engineer

HAGERSTOWN, Nov. 19 (AP)—The Board of County Commis sioners voted today to hire an en gineer, as suggested by the grand jury, as a means of holding down school construction costs.

The commissioners said they welcomed the jurors' recommen dation and had already discussed plans for employing an engineer.

Commissioners must approve school board plans for new con struction but have been handi capped because they have been unable to read blueprints and have not had the advice of an engineer.

The grand jury said "such ad vice could have in the past and will in the future save the tax payers substantial amounts of money."

The board unanimously agreed to include money to hire an en gineer in the budget for next year.

They also indicated the county's property tax rate next year will

Censor Army Rides Herd Day And Night On Cuba Newspapers, Radio-TV Stations

HAVANA, Nov. 19 (AP) — A small army of censors rides herd day and night on Cuba's newspapers, radio and TV stations.

They are ready instantly to pounce upon and destroy any news item they consider likely to "inflame the populace or tend to create public disorder" of that they consider highly critical of the government of President Fulgencio Batista.

There's a censor, or censors, in every radio-TV station and in the offices of newspapers and other publications throughout the country.

They also censor foreign correspondents and international cable companies.

Censorship often has been applied in the 55 years of this island's independence from Spain, but the control seems tighter than ever under the existing suspension of constitutional guarantees, ordered Oct. 30 for another 45 days. It was the sixth suspension this year.

The censors have broad, arbitrary powers and there is no appeal from their decisions.

Proofsheets of the full pages of every newspaper have to be submitted to a censor for approval. That includes everything from society news to national and international political developments.

All international news is carefully scanned because publication here about revolts or lack of liberties in other countries might be construed as putting rebellious ideas into the minds of Cubans.

In other words, nothing that tells the real story of what's going on in Cuba can be passed on to the people through their newspapers, by radio or by TV. For any of that would fall within the category of being "inflammatory."

None of these news channels ever mention the name of rebel leader Fidel Castro. He has been waging a guerrilla war for a year against Batista's government from the Sierra Maestra Mountains in easternmost Oriente Province.

The Cuban people hear about it only through clandestine revolutionary pamphlets and bulletins, by passing the word from mouth to mouth, or by reading closely the newspapers that arrive from New York and Miami.

News about bombings and widespread sabotage in key Cuban towns and communication centers never appears in any Cuban newspaper, nor does it come over any radio or TV station. But the news gets around fast over an island grapevine.

The censorship of anything identifying Castro as a rebel leader, or any likeness of him, extends to advertising.

Censorship stopped the publication in Cuba of advertisements of an internationally known watch because a bearded soldier depicted using it in the arctic looked too much like Castro.

The government allows newspaper publishers virtually no latitude in deciding what prominence should be given any official hand-out. Each usually is prefaced by "suggested" headlines accenting portions that the government think should be impressed upon the reader.

Nothing written by American or other foreign correspondents can be transmitted by a cable company until it has been approved by a censor.

Thus far, censors have not attempted to interfere with international telephone communications or sending news from Cuba by the mails or a plane courier.

Both the Inter-American Press Assn., and Cuban newspaper publishers have appealed to President Batista to lift censorship.

He answered that censorship is necessary to "assure the maintenance of peace and order in the republic."

Batista added that he would lift censorship as soon as it appears to be in the interests of the Cuban people and their government.

Long-Range Radar Spots Red 'Moons'

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP) — A new long-range radar for Canadian-American research in ballistic missile defense is now in operation and has been used in detecting the Russian satellites at remote distances.

This was announced last night by Dr. Julius A. Stratton, chancellor and acting president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He addressed the MIT Club of New York in place of Dr. James R. Killian Jr., president of MIT, on leave to serve as special assistant for science and technology to President Eisenhower.

The new radar — a 90-ton network of metal shaped like a cereal bowl 84 feet in diameter — was built by Lincoln Laboratory, an MIT facility associated with the Army, Navy and Air Force.

The big bowl is mounted on a white-painted tower 90 feet high on the crest of Millstone Hill, Westford, Mass., 35 miles northwest of Boston. It can sweep the entire sky.

Lincoln Laboratory scientists disclosed technical details at the same time Dr. Stratton was making the announcement in New York. They explained that such precision is required from the apparatus, they had to take precautions against even the minute bending of the tower that might be produced by uneven heating from the sun's rays.

Hopemont Sanitarium Project Is Approved

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 19 (AP) — State Penitentiary officials were notified today to get work under way at Hopemont Sanitarium to provide facilities there for 23 tubercular prisoners.

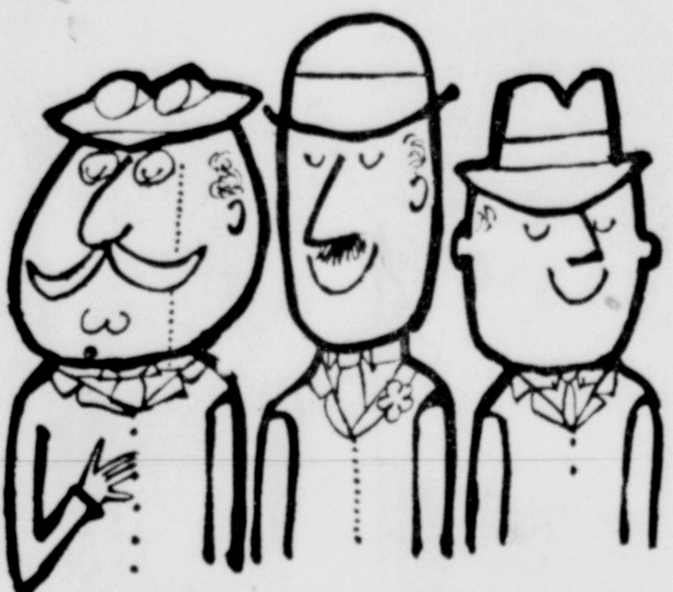

Public Institutions Commissioner Theodore T. Dorman gave the go-ahead after Atty. Gen. W. W. Barron announced today that his office has cleared the legality of a transfer of funds for the work at Hopemont, near Terra Alta.

The prisoners now are in the penitentiary at Moundsville. Dorman has sought to transfer them to the tuberculosis sanitarium because, he said, conditions at the penitentiary are not conducive to their recovery and they represent a health hazard to other prisoners.

Workers Get Less Overtime

As the current economic recession, or slow-down, or sidewise readjustment, or whateveritis has developed, there has inevitably developed with it some reduction in the average number of hours worked in manufacturing industries. And along with that reduction has gone with equal inevitability a decrease in pay for overtime.

Under the Fair Labor Standards (Wage-Hour) and other acts, hours worked over 40 a week or eight a day in interstate commerce or on government contract must be paid for at one-half more than the regular wage rate. And one charge—whether it is valid or invalid—against the Defense Department and certain defense industries is that, to reduce expense, they slowed down defense production by curtailing overtime.

Not that overtime completely ceased. During October, says the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, it averaged 2.3 hours a week in U. S. manufacturing as a whole. A year before, in October 1956, overtime had averaged 3.1 hours a week.

The "gross" hours, including overtime, worked in manufacturing fell from an average of 40.7 a week in October 1946 to 39.5 in October 1947. In other words, there was less of a full 40-hour week as well as less of overtime over 40 hours a week.

But while hours of work fell a little, average hourly earnings in manufacturing rose over the 12 months—from $2.02 an hour to $2.08. So, despite the decrease in total hours, the gross average weekly earnings in manufacturing in October 1957 were about the same as in October 1956. The "real" wages fell a little over the 12-month period because of the rise in consumer prices.

These Days

American Policy

When we are called upon to spend billions of dollars for defense, as it is euphemistically called, we need to know what our policy is. What is the basic foreign policy of the United States? Is it to oppose the Soviet conquest of the world? Is it to oppose such conquest only in certain areas? Is it to oppose such conquests only before they are accomplished facts and then to accept them as facts because that is what they are? Is it policy to finance the governments that have already been conquered by Soviet Russia on the assumption that if we support them, they may some day rebel against Russia? Do we have a program for our relations with the so-called satellite countries or do we deal with them opportunistically?

When we had an opportunity to support such rebellions in Hungary and Poland, we turned a deaf ear to the appeals of those peoples. Is it policy to stir up rebellion, directly or indirectly, and then to desert the peoples who trusted us? Professor Hans J. Morgenthau, a brilliant student of American policy, has written:

"... The United States, far from seeking out or creating opportunities for opening the door to liberation, has proven to be unwilling even to enter the door when a satellite nation kicks it wide open."

It was after Hungary that the real trouble developed in the Middle East. It was after the so-called uncommitted nations recognized that the United States had lost another move, as we had lost in China in 1946 and in Korea in 1951, that neutralism developed into a menace to American policy. Professor Hans Morgenthau defines American policy as follows:

"... This policy not only recognizes the special interests of the Soviet Union east of the 1945 line of demarcation, but also pledges non-interference with Soviet policies east of that line. It is tantamount to a unilateral recognition of a Russian sphere of influence wherein the United States concedes, without receiving any concessions in return, what she has consistently refused to concede since Yalta, and what Winston Churchill urged us to concede only in the give and take of a negotiated settlement."

In a word, we have permitted ourselves to be tied down to Russian decisions which we accept because our government has regarded it as certain that to contradict Soviet Russia, to oppose Soviet Russia, would mean war. But we have not conceived of any policy that is an alternative to concessions to avoid war. For instance, our current shipment of arms to Tunisia, on the eve of the NATO Conference, represents another compromise. Do we support France or are we planning to reduce France to the status of Tunisia? If the latter is our plan are we not risking the Sovietization of France? And after that, what happens to West Germany?

Harry Truman's "Containment Policy," at any rate did offer an alternative to abject acceptance, namely, a demarcation of a line beyond which Soviet Russia must not go. While Truman was President, Soviet Russia did not break through that line, but after the Geneva Summit Conference, Russia smashed through that line into Egypt and Syria and it is possibly so that Indonesia is the next area of break through.

We have done nothing about all this except to sulk. Then up went the two Sputniks and now Soviet Russia is demanding a realistic destruction of NATO and the calling of another Summit Conference on Russia's terms, an expanded and flattened out Summit Conference.

President Eisenhower has not restated American policy from the standpoint of Russia's serious and successful breaches of the containment line. He may do so in Paris at the NATO Conference, but he must recognize that the NATO Alliance could, under certain political circumstances, melt away. A Labour victory in Great Britain, a left wing victory in France, a continuation of the ill-will between Greece and Turkey can be very mischievous from the standpoint of American interests.

We could become isolated, which is the current aim of Soviet Russia. Our inexcusable conduct over Egypt and the Suez Canal will not soon be forgotten in Great Britain and France nor by Soviet Russia because it has been demonstrated that the United States can work with Soviet Russia against our allies in certain political situations.

Needs Both For A Safe Landing

Keeping Our Options On Other Side Of Curtain

By Joseph Alsop

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia

This is a moment of fairly desperate uncertainty about future Soviet policy. At home, Nikita S. Khrushchev may either drown his people in blood or choke them in butter. Abroad, by the same token, he may become dangerously venturesome or seek a period of real pacification.

Throughout the Eisenhower administration, American policy has essentially consisted of a series of belated and generally inadequate reactions to Soviet actions. We have a chance, now, to do a little better. We have a chance, in fact, to influence Khrushchev's eventual decision very greatly.

He is at least bound to be considerably sobered, if America responds with clarity, vigor and decisiveness to the ugly new world situation now confronting us. That must be the long range aim.

But it will still be a wait-and-see business until Khrushchev has actually made his choice. In this uncertain moment, only one thing is certain. Until Khrushchev shows his hand, the American policy makers really desperately need to keep all possible options, to retain the utmost possible freedom of action, on Khrushchev's side of the line that divides the world.

As a practical matter, this means keeping our options here in Yugoslavia and in Poland. We have no real power to act any where else on this side of the world-dividing line. And keeping our options means, in turn, leaving the existing relationships largely unaltered.

Aid, even much more generous aid, needs to be given to Poland. The rapidly tapering program of aid to Yugoslavia must also be maintained, at least to the extent of continuing the relatively inexpensive surplus wheat deliveries which provide nearly 80 per cent of the bread for Yugoslavia's cities.

Of course, these and other matters will need to be coldly reconsidered if the Yugoslavs and Poles and by cheering Khrushchev on, while he inaugurates Stalin's terror at home and embarks on a campaign of still bolder

Man Behind The Scenes At The Hospital

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The pathologist is the forgotten member of the medical team. His headquarters are in the laboratory of the hospital; patients rarely see him or are aware of his presence. But his work is essential in diagnosis and treatment.

The pathologist is a physician; he has been graduated from medical school and has served a year or more of internship. From this point on, his training differs from that of the surgeon, internist, neurologist, or other specialist. He spends several years learning the nature of every illness and the appearance of normal and abnormal tissue. He must be familiar with all types of laboratory tests and their significance. He determines whether a piece of tissue is malignant or benign.

Many important decisions are made behind the scenes in the pathologist's office. A surgeon for example, is scheduled to remove a tumor of the breast. He cannot tell from examination whether the lesion is innocent or cancerous. The pathologist is notified and is present at the operation. The tumor is removed and taken to the laboratory immediately.

Here it is frozen and a small section is placed under the microscope. The diagnosis is relayed to the surgeon, and if cancer is present, he does a radical breast operation. Should the condition prove benign, the wound is merely closed. This procedure is followed in many other disorders.

In approved hospitals, all tissues removed in the operating room are sent to the laboratory for study. These reports become the property of the hospitals and serve also as a check on the work of the surgeon. If the tissue is normal, the surgeon is called upon to explain his reason for operating.

The pathologist is well versed in a knowledge of blood and is called upon frequently to determine whether certain cells represent anemia or leukemia. He is helpful in medico-legal matters, bacteriology, hygiene, and chemistry. All autopsies are done under his jurisdiction. Many path-

Justice Frankfurter Imitates Queen's Dinner At White House Function

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Justice Felix Frankfurter, born in Vienna and brought to the United States 63 years ago, was three quarters of a century old last week. In those years, he, an immigrant boy, had climbed to the highest court in the land.

His fellow Supreme Court Justices, some of whom don't always enthuse over his voluble expostulations from the bench, gave Felix a dinner in honor of his 75th birthday. It was considerably different from another dinner which Frankfurter himself gave on the same night. Queen Elizabeth was entertained by Eisenhower in state at the White House.

Frankfurter, a great admirer and defender of the British, was not invited. The White House guests included executives of Coca Cola, Seagrams Whiskey, the Young and Rubicam Advertising Agency, the Cluett Peabody Shirts Company, a director of Republic Steel, and the other big campaign contributors.

But Justice Frankfurter, though not invited to the White House, was not to be outdone. He sent out formal dinner invitations to four close friends, including Donald Hiss, brother of Alger Hiss. Ominously, the invitations read: "white tie mandatory."

Obediently, guests arrived in white ties and formal tails. Greeting them, Justice Frankfurter said: "I see you are in full splendor, but I can cut one notch higher than you on this thing."

He pointed to his midnight blue tail coat and to the red lapels that had been specially attached for the occasion.

"I'm quite a whiz when I go in for pomp and circumstance," joked the Supreme Court Justice.

The guests went in for dinner. The first course was luxurious cream of almond soup. One of the ladies tittered. Cream of almond soup was also being served to Queen Elizabeth at the White House.

Second course was filet of sole. This time two ladies tittered. Third course was roast duckling—exactly what the Queen of England was eating at the White House.

The fourth course turned out to be nesselrode pudding, again duplicating the White House menu.

Frankfurter confessed that he was an avid reader of the women's pages, had clipped the White House menu, gone personally to the Library of Congress to consult a high-brow British cookbook for one of the recipes.

"We can enjoy their food, but they can't have our conversation," he said. "Just think what wonderful talk the other people are missing."

Big Brothers of America

It's no secret that juvenile crime has shot up in the United States for eight consecutive years. Since 1948 there's been a 70 per cent increase in the number of appearances before juvenile courts, despite the fact that the population increase of juveniles between 10 and 17 was only 16 per cent.

Last year was the worst. Police arrests of juveniles went up 17 per cent and court appearances shot up 20 per cent.

The District of Columbia, capital of the United States and supposed to be a model city, is no model when it comes to juvenile crime. Its court cases have doubled in the past six years, which is above the national average.

Washington even let its Big Brothers organization lapse last year for lack of funds, and for this and other reasons there were 1,645 juvenile delinquency cases filed last year—a record. Today the District of Columbia is re-viving Big Brothers, an organization operating in many other cities, to give youngsters guidance when they are on the verge of crime or just need friendly advice.

The basic problem leading to delinquency is insecurity — a youngster's feeling that he's not wanted by his family or the community. Every human being has a fundamental desire to belong. When there is desertion by a parent, or separation or divorce, the youngster may be headed for trouble.

However, kids tend to pattern themselves after their elders. If he has a friendly adviser, such as a big brother assigned to spend weekends with him by the big brother organization, he tends to follow the example of that big brother.

Big Brothers of America have been doing a wonderful job in various cities, helping boys who are fatherless, who come from broken homes, who may be socially maladjusted, or may be paroled to a big brother by the courts rather than sending him to a reformatory.

"No man ever stands so straight as when he stoops to help a boy," said the Big Brothers. According to J. Edgar Hoover, they are doing a great job.

No One Like Felix

At the Supreme Court dinner for Justice Frankfurter, his fellow justice, William J. Brennan, proposed a toast during which he told a story of a man in purgatory who wanted to work his way to heaven. St. Peter gave him some difficult tasks to do, first removing a mountain with a shovel.

It took him 2,000 years, after which he came back for more. "There's a lake over near town," said St. Peter. "You go and empty that lake with a teaspoon."

This took 5,000 years, after which he came back for more.

"This time," said St. Peter, "you go out and find another man like Felix Frankfurter."

"He's been gone 30,000 years," concluded Justice Brennan, "and he hasn't come back yet."

Missiles Old Stuff

By Bob Considine

MOSCOW, Nov. 19 (INS)—It is a little disarming, having long been sure that this country developed its missiles largely in recent years, to read about Konstantin Tsiolkovsky?

Ever hear of Konstantin Tsiolkovsky? That makes two of us. He was born in 1857 and died in 1935, which was only one year after the Russian scientists we talked to the other day said the USSR became interested in rockets. But quotes from his writings indicated he was a blend of Jules Verne and Thomas Edison, for he seems not only to have dreamed exotically but was a practicing scientist of great stature in Russia under both czars and Communism.

Many years before airplanes could fly much higher than the Empire State Building, Tsiolkovsky wrote: "The first great stride that is to be made by man is to fly out of the atmosphere and become a satellite of the earth."

Like Leonardo Da Vinci, he dabbled with the jet engine. Of it he wrote:

"I have worked out certain aspects of rising into space in a rocket-like jet device. The possibility of ascending to the skies in a device of that kind is substantiated by mathematical deduction based on scientific, repeatedly verified fact."

There was a time, and quite recently, when the idea of learning the composition of celestial bodies seemed absurd even to the most prominent scientists and thinkers. That time is past. A great new era will open in astronomy with jet devices — and era of a closer study of the sky — the era of propeller aircraft will be followed by an era of jet aircraft, or of stratospheric aircraft.

"Mankind in its pursuit of light and space will begin to penetrate the confines of the atmosphere, timidly at first, and then it will conquer all the space around the sun"—Tsiolkovsky.

Not long ago in Washington our former International News Service science wizard Edwin Diamond told me that a number of our space people in the government are writing science articles and fiction sometimes under a nom de plume. I thought of that remark and the hairline between fact and fiction when I came across this from the pen of the bearded tiny, eyeglassed Russian:

"I do not claim to have solved the matter entirely. First—invariably so came thought, imagination, and fiction. In their wake comes scientific calculation. And only then the idea is crowned by its execution."

"I am more aware of the abyss dividing idea from realization than most people, for in the course of my life I have had to think, calculate, and I have had to execute working with my hands. Yet there must be the idea, for execution is preceded by thought, and precise calculation by fantasy."

Speakers at big public functions here use reverse tactics in the course of their salutations, by western standards. Any of our speakers would address his first remark to dignitaries in order of their rank and importance. On the occasion of "Artillery Day" last Sunday Marshal Rodion Malinovsky, defense minister, began his talk as follows:

"Comrades artillerymen and workers of the ordnance industry. Comrades soldiers and sailors, sergeants and petty officers. Comrades officers, generals and admirals."

As of 6 a. m., which was the last time we checked, poor Laika the dead space dog had completed about five and a quarter million miles of travel around and around the earth. Its predecessor Sputnik I and its somewhat spittier carrier rocket had made 667 and 672 revolutions respectively.

In case of the latter that would be 16,800,000 miles. If it had been pointed at Mars when launched Oct. 4 at 18,000 miles an hour it would now be halfway there.

Which should give you a faint idea of the colossal and stupefying distances involved in space.

Lions Club Marks 26th Anniversary

Traffic Expert Guest Speaker

LONACONING — The twenty-sixth anniversary of Lonaconing Lions Club was celebrated Monday evening at the Pythian Building, Lonaconing, with a dinner served at 6:30 p. m. Ladies Night was observed for the anniversary occasion.

Invocation was given by James Getty, Nelson Keyes, president, who is presiding officer. Master of ceremonies was William Wilson. Jack A. Petry was song leader for the joyous celebration.

William Wilson, Jack A. Petry, Joseph K. Haugen and Jack Getty comprised the program committee for the anniversary Ladies Night. A gift was presented to Frank Phillips for his having 26 years of perfect attendance at Lonaconing Lions Club.

There are eight charter members, Arthur Phillips, James Richmond, Alvin F. Green, James Park, Thomas Holmes, Jack Eichhorn, George Eichhorn and Joseph Harris.

Corsages with ribbons of the Lions colors, gold and blue, were presented to the ladies, and bouquets were presented to the Lions by George H. Dashiels, who is known by Lions for his generosity at such occasions.

Sgt. Aubrey Syawaski, Metropolitan Police Department, Washington, D. C., was an outstanding speaker, giving a humorous side while emphasizing traffic safety. He told the group that a person is killed in accidents at the rate of every 13 minutes. The cost is estimated by the Navy to be thirty-five million dollars in 1956.

"Good Knowledge, obey traffic laws at all times" are three areas in which drivers differ. Persons who know "Stop" means stop, fail to observe this important highway sign. Speed causes one half of the accidents, and when roads are wet, accidents are three times as high as on dry days. Filed records at Washington, indicate, he declared.

Those who attended include Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Treat, Mr. and Mrs. James Orr, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Bachman and Mr. and Mrs. David E. Kirk, Cumberland Md. and Mrs. Paul C. Haberlin, Frostburg Md. and Mrs. David J. Williams, Midland.

Possible Eligibles Urged To Inquire

With the payment of monthly benefits for the first time early in August to more than 100,000 disabled people between the ages of 50 and 65, the Federal Social Security program reached a new and important landmark in its mission to promote the financial security of the American family, according to James E. Robertson, district manager of the Cumberland office of the Social Security Administration.

"The Social Security Disability Program has three major features," Mr. Robertson added, "it 'freezes' or protects a worker's Social Security earnings record, when he is unable to work because of a severe and longlasting disability. It makes payments to the disabled worker at age 50 or over, and it makes payments to the disabled sons and daughters of retired workers and insured workers who have died."

By recent congressional action, the long-disabled worker now has almost another year until June 30, 1958, to file an application and still have his social security earnings record protected as of the date he actually became disabled.

However, if the disabled worker is over 50 now, it is important that he file his application as soon as possible, and before January 1, 1958, so that he will not lose any monthly benefit payments. When an application is filed before January 1, 1958, payments can begin with the month of July, 1957. Disabled workers who apply in January, 1958, or later, will not be paid benefits for months before the date of their applications.

Mr. Robertson stated that the disability freeze protects the wage earner's future rights to social security benefits for himself and for his family, because he might not otherwise have the required work credit at the time he reaches age 65 or dies. Thus the "freeze" retains full benefits for disabled workers, based on their period of actual employment.

"The disability freeze provisions of the Social Security Act, and the provisions which make possible the payment of monthly disability benefits to thousands of eligible people at age 50, or 15 years before they might otherwise be entitled, make a significant contribution to the overall financial security of the American home," Mr. Robertson declared. "But there is still another provision of the act which provides for payment of monthly benefits to disabled children over 18 of insured wage earners."

Mr. Robertson pointed out that under the old-age and survivors insurance program benefits have been payable since 1940 to children under 18 of wage earners who are themselves receiving Social Security checks, or to children of deceased insured workers. Where such children are disabled, however, it is now possible to continue payments to them after age 18, according to one of the provisions of the 1956 amendments which authorized such payments beginning with the month of January 1957.

In addition, there are many children of living or deceased wage earners who may be considerably over age 18 today but who were dependent on a wage earner prior to their 18th birthday, who may now be eligible to receive disability benefits even though they had not been eligible for any Social Security benefits heretofore.

Former Garrett Co. Resident Accused Of Illegal Killing And Selling Wildlife

Federal, State, Local Officers Work On Year-Long Scheme

OAKLAND — After a year-long undercover investigation by state and federal officers, the illegal killing and sale of deer and grouse in Garrett County by one man has been broken up.

Carlos Woodrow Friend, Uniontown, a former resident of the Friendsville area, was taken before Magistrate Earl C. Friend yesterday and posted bond of $1,750 for a hearing November 29 on 23 state charges of illegal killing, possession and sale of wildlife.

The charges against Friend were preferred by District Game Warden Leo G. Friend, according to State's Attorney Stephen R. Pagenhardt. He said the three men are not related.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke outlined the facts in the case as follows:

Game law officers got wind of a scheme whereby wildlife was being killed in Garrett County and taken into Pennsylvania, mostly the Uniontown area, and sold.

In view of the crossing of a state line in the nefarious plan, the violation came under the jurisdiction of the federal government. An officer of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service and an officer of the State Game and Inland Fish Commission from the Baltimore area were sent into Garrett County to probe the situation.

The two officers posed as real estate men and made "friends" with Carlos Friend. During the past year they were able to purchase 10 grouse and 13 deer from Friend. The game was placed in cold storage for use as evidence.

Minke said that Friend owned a farm in the White Rock Mountain section of Garrett County and it is believed the grouse and deer were killed in this area. Friend was arrested in 1951 on charges of selling wild game, Minke said. State's Attorney Pagenhardt added the following information in the case.

He said that the first purchase by the undercover agents was made in December of 1956 and the last purchase last Saturday at a motel on Deep Creek Lake. Friend, the accused, is represented by Attorneys Stuart F. Hamill Jr., and William O. Treacy.

Marksmanship To Be Shown At Scout Fair

30 Units Have Reserved Booths

WESTERNPORT — An added attraction to the first annual Boy Scout Exposition on Saturday, November 23, at the Westernport Elementary School has been announced by George McDowell. During the three-hour program of live demonstrations of scouting, visitors will be invited to view and participate in a marksmanship display.

The Daisy Air Rifle Company is sending to the exposition a display of its latest air rifles and will provide targets and B-B shot. Troop 67 from Beryl, under the direction of John Smith, will invite each patron to try his skill or luck at marksmanship. Every precaution and safety factor will be observed.

Thirty Scout units have reserved booths and will present continuous shows from 6 to 9 p.m. Each visitor may linger at a booth for detailed instruction or spend a short time at each booth. A railing will be provided each area so that crowding is avoided.

Live animals will appear at the exposition. The merit badge of rabbit raising and wildlife conservation naturally suggest that both tame and wild animals should be included.

Skills and handicraft in the form of plaster casting and painting and basketry will be displayed. The merit badge of first aid has been selected by two units.

A unique display will be that of the troop from the West Virginia School for the Deaf in Romney. Potomac Council will present materials to help all adult leaders.

All booths are eligible for competition in the award for best exhibitor.

An engraved wall plaque will be presented to winners in two divisions, Cub Scout and Boy Scout-Explorer Scout.

Annual Minstrel Plays Tonight In Westernport

Second Showing Set Tomorrow

WESTERNPORT—A cast of approximately 75 local and out-of-town persons will appear in the fifth annual minstrel sponsored by St. Peter's Catholic Church Wednesday and Thursday at 8 p. m. in the hall of St. Peter's School.

Ord is music director and pianist. Stage sets have been designed and made by a committee headed by Mrs. Agnes Marsh and Frank Roberts.

Included on the list of entertainers are Marshall Caton of Frostburg, Sandra Rucker of Flinestone, Marian Hamilton, "The Mackert Kids" and William Mills of Cumberland. Misses Rucker and Hamilton are both scheduled for appearances on the Ted Mack show over NBC-TV during the winter season, Rev. Pugh added.

Orchestral accompaniment for the musical numbers will be presented by a quartet composed of Mrs. Ord, piano; John Laughlin, drums; Al Bowman, saxophone and clarinet, and Marshall Eilbeck, trumpet.

Since 1950 Arizona's population has risen from 750,000 to 1,150,000.

Faculty Trio Recital Set For Friday

KEYSER — Members of the music department faculty of Potomac State College will present a recital Friday, at 8:15 p. m. in the auditorium of the administration building. No admission will be charged and the program is open to the public.

The program will consist of piano selections by Leonard G. Withers, head of the department; vocal selections by Miss Frances D. Sarullo, a contralto and trumpet solos by Nuzio Barbera.

Barbera will open the program with two numbers, "Napoli" and "With a Song in My Heart."

For her first group Miss Sarullo has chosen "Vergin Tutta Amor," "Tanto Sospirero" and "To Lo Sai."

Three Chopin compositions will be played by Withers as his opening group: "Etude Opus 25, Number 1," "Etude Opus 10, Number 3," and "Fantaisie-Impromptu Opus 66."

"Grand Russian Fantasia" and "Boy Meets Horn" are to be included in Barbera's second trumpet group.

Solos in Miss Sarullo's second group will be "Sweet Little Jesus Boy," "Deep River" and "Mam'selle Marie."

Withers final selection will be Chopin's "Scherzo Opus 39" in C sharp minor.

Accompanists for Miss Sarullo will be Withers, Miss Rita Barbera will accompany her father.

Garrett Mental Health Group Votes National Affiliation

1957 Campaign Volunteers Get Awards

OAKLAND — The Garrett County Association for Mental Health, at a meeting held in the William James Hotel here, accepted their by-laws and voted to affiliate with the Maryland and National Associations for Mental Health.

Mrs. Paul B. Naylor, president, introduced the guest speaker, Ray Hamby, assistant executive director of the Maryland Association for Mental Health, who discussed "Striking the Stigma from Mental Illness." A film was shown entitled, "Will I Be Welcome?" This film, Mrs. Naylor announced, is available to any group in the county which wishes an up-to-date documentary on existing conditions in the mental health movement.

Mrs. E. Irving Baumgartner, campaign chairman for the 1957 fund drive, presented citations to a number of volunteers who helped with the campaign.

The group included Mrs. O. T. Graser, president, Oakland Civic Club; Mrs. Robert Rudy, chairman Mental Health for Junior Woman's Civic Club; Miss Viola Broadwater, Grantsville; Mrs. Thomas Sines, Friendsville; Mrs. Ross Speicher, Accident; Miss Ruth Emory and Mrs. John Reckner both of Bittering; Mrs. Earl Shank, Kitzmiller; Mrs. Britten Martin, Mt. Lake Park; Mrs. Lester Yutzy, Crellin; Mrs. A. L. Biggs, Mrs. Melvin Sisler and Mrs. Bruce Groves, Loch Lynn; Mrs. Ernest Spoerlein, Gortner; and Mrs. William Smith, Red House.

Mrs. Baumgartner expressed her appreciation for the volunteer work of all these people, as well as others who helped in the annual drive. She said, "without volunteers, and the cooperation and charitable spirit of the county's citizens, efforts of this kind would not be possible." The work of Mrs. Baumgartner was commended by Mrs. Naylor and other members of the unit.

An orientation meeting for the board of directors is scheduled for 7 p. m. on December 16 at the Naylor home, 53 Wilson Street.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 19 (INS)—In town for only a few hours, Kathryn Grant telephoned before she rejoined Bing at Palm Desert. Good to hear her so happy. She said that Bing is going to fly her to Tucson tomorrow for her Columbia picture "Gunman's Walk," see her settled, and then return to their desert home.

"I'll spend every weekend with him," said Kathy. "Fred Kohmar has been wonderful about letting me wait to start my picture as long as possible."

She said she is learning to cook, and that Bing's mother gave her many recipes. "But so far I'm not very good," she confessed, "but I'll learn." Being a college girl and then an actress hasn't given my attractive friend, Kathy, much time to learn the culinary arts.

I met Buddy Adler at the Schreiber reception and asked him about his plans for Diane Varsi, the young actress who scores so brilliantly in "Peyton Place."

He said he is casting Diane as Gary Cooper's daughter in "10 North Frederick." She is one of the most promising young actresses on the 20th lot, and Buddy said the studio had great plans for her. Although she is only 19, she has been married twice. Her first marriage was annulled and she recently separated from James Dickson, a young engineer.

Rhonda Fleming's mother, whom Rhonda says never got the grease paint out of her system, gets her first acting role in Rhonda's picture, "Bullwhipped."

Rhonda wires from Angel's Camp, California, where she is on location to say that her mother, Olivia Louis, who lives in San Mateo, came to visit her and Harmon Jones, the director, asked her mother to play the wife of a judge.

"It's a small part, but you would think mother was opening in a Broadway show," said Rhonda. "You'll recall she was a star at the Winter Garden in New York, but this is her first picture."

I was very happy to be present at the impressive marriage ceremony of Linda Schreiber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lew Schreiber, and William Eugene Drury at the Church of St. Paul the Apostle. Linda, whom I've known since she was a baby, was a beautiful bride in her wedding gown of white. Her sister, pretty Susan Schreiber, in a light beige gown, was maid of honor, while Gail Kenaston, daughter of Billie Dove and Bob Kenaston, also in beige, was an attractive bridesmaid.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Sherman Billingsley, who collapsed at the Stork Club and was rushed to a hospital, returned to the club that very night. Doctors said his illness was one of exhaustion.

George Montgomery, hurrying from La Rue where he was dining with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Korshak, to hear Dinah Shore on that great General Motors show. Mrs. Korshak looks exactly like a young Norma Shearer.

Ernie Kovacs and Eddie Adams open at the Tropicana in Las Vegas tomorrow night and Eddie Fisher flies to see them, and also to see Dean Martin at the Sands. Dean tells me he will positively be well enough to keep his date with Jack Entratter.

The 32 Oriental artists imported from Tokyo, including authentic geisha girls, plus some kabuki dancers, at Wilbur Clark's Desert Inn are also a Las Vegas attraction.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Every card you send, every gift you give—can be special because you know how to make it so.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Give Your Personal Touch For Christmas

Nothing takes the place of the personal touch. Especially at Christmas, when cards roll in by the mail-sack loads and everyone receives more gifts than at any other time of year. The stand-outs are the cards which include bright little hand-written notes, and the gayly wrapped gifts that really are just what the giver found out you wanted.

Do your Christmas shopping early, but do your Christmas sleuthing earlier still. Sit down right now and make a list of those you will seek gifts for and see how many good ideas you have. Try to remember what each person expressed a wish for—something of yours that was admired that you might duplicate, an eye-catcher in a store window as you both passed by, an item you noticed was lacking or would be much enjoyed. For those names with blanks after them, set yourself the task of tracking down clues. This will make all the difference between giving a gift just to be giving something and showing that you remember and gave special thought to the individual. It will make even the smallest, token a delight to receive.

It's probably not a day too early to start writing special greetings and bits of news on your Christmas cards or on notepaper to fit into the envelope with them. This is time-consuming but you know how rewarding it is when you think of the pleasure you take in cards that go so much farther than mere printed words. Don't risk omitting your own personal notes by letting time creep up too fast.

And learn to be a gifted gift-wraper. There's a lot to the theory of the importance of anticipation, and you can proffer the package that's almost too pretty to open to make the gift more fun. There are books and booklets on how to handle the paper properly and make beautiful bows, and sometimes stores have experts to teach you and to provide new ideas. The wrapping, too, shows more of your personal thought and joy of giving.

TOMORROW: Dry Skin Freshness.

KEYSER—Capt. Henry E. Wilt, commander of Battery C, 201st Armored Field Artillery Battalion, announced that the local guard unit gained two enlisted men during the past week. A former member of the unit, returning after two years active duty, S-3 James R. Moomau, is assigned to Battery C to complete the remainder of his initial National Guard enlistment. Moomau served one year in Iceland and the remainder of his time at Fort Polk, La.

Another former member, Sgt. James E. Green, 178 East Piedmont Street, reenlisted for a period of three years. Green served on active duty with the unit when called into federal service in 1950. He has been assigned as mess steward for the battery. A Navy veteran, Green has a total of four years service.

Sgt. Francis H. Zacot has been transferred to the inactive National Guard and Pvt. Ayne Grapes was discharged due to change of residence.

Promoted, effective September 30, was Pvt. William A. Miller, to private first class.

Pvt. Ernest C. Miller left Saturday for six months active duty in training at Fort Knox, Ky. Miller incurred an obligation upon enlistment under the Reserve Act, 1955, which makes basic training mandatory for all National Guardsmen enlisting after April 1, 1957.

The local battery has some vacancies for veterans who still have a military reserve obligation and want to participate in active service.

Movie Producer Kerner Has Split Personality

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19 (P)—Off-hand, you'd have to say movie producer Lew Kerner looks like a man with a split spiritual personality.

Here he was today, surrounded by some of the capital's spiritual and civic leaders, including the Senate chaplain, Dr. Frederick
Brown Harris, and the new attorney general, William P. Rogers.
All were looking approvingly at samples of Kerner's new film series, "Minutes of Prayer."

As soon as Kerner finishes launching the "Minutes," he will be hard at work filming the
James T. Farrell book, "Studs Lonigan."

Studs, who has been called the granddaddy of the juvenile delinquents, kept such vice company that many a religious organization protested when Kerner announced he planned to do the book.

Well, Kerner sees no basic conflict between "Minutes" and Lonigan, and we'll let him explain why as soon as we find out how he happened to get in the spiritual film business.

It all came about, he says, be-

The bidding:

 Pass 1 heart Pass 2 diamonds

 Pass 4 hearts Pass Pass

Opening lead: Five of clubs.

Declarer fell back on some simple psychology today to induce his opponent to give him a successful finesse that nature might otherwise have denied him. South opened with one heart but I think it is a marked ten and North had too much to offer of defenders to make haste a simple raise so he temporized to cash tricks in a suit that is with two diamonds. After the heart was rebid, North offered his raise and South proceeded to not deprive South of the gratification of having induced the error.

Market Sags With Rails Dropping To New '57 Low

NEW YORK, Nov. 19 (AP)—Rail shares sank to another new low for 1957 today and the stock market as a whole took sizable losses in moderate trading.

Pennsylvania Railroad was down to a new low since 1932, skimming under the 1949 low of 13 1/2 to close at 13 1/2, its lowest price since the '32 bottom of 6 1/2.

In the closing minutes, however, a rallying tendency got under way on a report that the Federal Reserve Board may take further steps towards easing credit.

Baltimore & Ohio was the most active stock for the second straight session, losing 2 1/4 at 25 on 78,600 shares. It dropped 6 1/2 yesterday on news that it was halving its 1958 quarterly dividends because of the traffic and business outlook. Pennsylvania Railroad, the nation's biggest, reports on dividends tomorrow. It was second most active, dropping 1 to 13 1/2 on 47,600 shares.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined $1.40 to $153.20 with the industrials down $1.30, the rails down $3.20 and the utilities unchanged.

Volume totaled 2,240,000 shares compared with 2,110,000 yesterday.

The third most active stock was Standard Oil (N.J.), off 1/4 at 48 1/2 on 39,800 shares.

Next came Bethlehem Steel, off 1/4 at 37 1/2, and Aluminum Ltd., off 1/4 at 29 1/2.

Denver & Rio Grande was the next most heavily traded rail, falling 1 1/2 to 34 1/2 on 23,100 shares. Santa Fe came next among the carrier issues, dropping 3/4 at 17, followed by New York Central, off 1/4 at 15 1/2, and Southern Railway, off 1/4 at 29 1/2.

Frostburg AF Officer, Wife Killed By Train

Lt. Col. John Lewis Set Jet Speed Mark

SHREVEPORT, La., Nov. 19 (AP)—An Air Force officer who once held a coast-to-coast speed record, and his wife died today when a passenger train struck their automobile at a grade crossing.

The couple was identified as Lt. Col. and Mrs. John C. Lewis.

Lewis was pilot of a B47 which set a coast-to-coast record of 3 hours and 19 minutes in a flight from March Air Force Base, Calif. to Savannah, Ga. in February 1955.

The couple was the only occupants of the car which was struck by an Illinois Central passenger train in Bossier City across the Red River from Shreveport.

The impact gutted the car and threw the engine 50 yards away.

Lewis' body was found in shallow water at the bottom of a 20-foot embankment, 60 yards down the track.

The body of Mrs. Lewis was found 40 yards from the point of impact.

Officers said the driver of the car apparently saw the train only seconds before the collision. Skid marks on the street from the car tires measured 25 feet.

Lewis, 37, was originally from Frostburg, Md. His wife was the former Sadie Cappel of Alexandria, La.

The couple had two children, John Charles age 6 and Leslie Kay, 10, both natives of Louisiana.

Lewis is also survived by a brother, Allen E. Lewis, Frostburg; his father, Allen Lewis, formerly of Frostburg and now residing in Barboursville, Ohio, and two sisters, Mrs. Bertha Hott of Mt. Savage and Mrs. Scelena Brown, Cresaptown.

He was a native of Mt. Savage and moved with his family to Frostburg as a youngster. He attended public schools in both Mt. Savage and Frostburg and graduated at Beall High School. He enlisted in the Air Force after graduation and had completed 18 years service, during which time he had pursued his college training and education.

Col. Lewis visited here frequently and last summer, he and his family spent two weeks vacationing at Deep Creek Lake. When in this area, and prior to his enlistment he had made his home with his sister, Mrs. Brown at Cresaptown.

Mrs. Brown said last night that funeral arrangements are incomplete but services and interment will probably be in Louisiana, since his wife and children are natives there, and he had resided there for a number of years.

The extensive repair job included the replacement of the two top courses of concrete slabs and the caking of all joints in the structure which was leaking extensively when the $15,000 contract was awarded.

County Issues Three Permits

Three building permits were issued by the County Assessing Department during the past couple of days.

Arthur C. Morgan, 1003 Oldtown Road, was issued a permit to construct a 20 feet by 28 feet dwelling which will cost approximately $3,000. The home will have composition panel walls, concrete foundation and a built up asphalt roof.

Nulnor C. McKenzie was granted a permit to build a 22 feet by 26 feet on story addition to a dwelling on B Street in LaVale.

The addition is expected to cost about $2,000. It will have a concrete block foundation, frame walls and a composition roof.

Glenn T. Howell, of Barton, received a permit to build a double garage with a small apartment above. The 22 feet by 26 feet building is expected to cost $1,000 to construct.

It will have rock and frame walls and a tar paper roof. A two-car garage will be razed and the new building constructed.

Fools Rush In, Not This Couple

A couple who went to the Allegany County Court House yesterday to pick up their marriage licenses apparently didn't feel like being too hasty in plunging into the sea of matrimony.

They applied for the licenses over two years ago on September 23, 1955. The bride-to-be is listed as Marian Miller, of 100 South Richardson Avenue, Columbus, Ohio, while the bridegroom's name was listed as Michael Polny on the licenses. He gave his address as the Earl Hotel, Liberty Avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa. when he applied for the licenses.

Street Light Breaking Rash Reported Here

A plague of breaking of street lights in several sections of the city was reported yesterday by William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light.

He said he has asked Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn to investigate the depredations and to prosecute offenders.

Mr. Edwards said most of the lights were broken in the Kelly Boulevard and Frazier Village sections.

The Potomac Edison Company, he said, had to replace 42 broken street lights last week and found 19 bulbs broken on Monday.

Replacement of broken or burned out street lights, Mr. Edwards said, is a constant problem for the company, since it costs about $2.25 to replace each bulb.

Lights are installed and maintained under a $40,000 a year contract with the utility.

Mr. Edwards said the City of Cumberland is rated as the best lighted city in Maryland.

W. Va. Drivers Get Warning

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 19 (AP)—Habitual violators of traffic laws within the state can expect the worst from a new program formulated by Motor Vehicles Commissioner Hubert A. Kelly.

Kelly announced today that he is working on a new filing system to penalize the habitual offender of municipal, county or state traffic regulations and reward the careful and considerate driver.

After thorough investigation, Kelly explained, he has found that the motor vehicles department has authority under the existing state law to inaugurate the new system. He added that experience in other states shows a reduction in the accident rate where incompetent drivers have been either permanently or temporarily suspended.

Road Systems Are Studied By IMPA Unit

Flintstone Class Plans Dinner Event

The Flintstone Class of the Institute of Maryland Public Affairs is studying how legislation—federal, state, county and city—affects Maryland's road system and how the changing of roads affects citizens of the area.

William H. Buchholtz, commissioner of streets and public property, will address today's session, discussing roads system in cities such as Cumberland.

Mrs. Robert Schaffer, an attorney, will discuss "How Roads Affect the Citizens" at the December 4 meeting.

Last Wednesday, Gorman E. Getty, attorney for the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, spoke on the Allegany County road system.

He related facts concerning the history, building maintenance, type of equipment used and the methods of financing county roads.

The many improvements and problems of the county's road system were discussed by the group.

Other speakers who appeared before the study group are State Senator Charles M. See, Delegate Noel Speir Cook and Earl E. Manges, who discussed legislation and its effects upon roads at different governmental levels.

Plan Dinner Event The last IMPA session will be a dinner meeting at Flintstone Fire Hall for the group and their families. The dinner will be served by the Auxiliary to the Flintstone Volunteer Firemen.

Mrs. Hazel Bottenfield took the training course last summer at Towson State Teachers College and is the group leader.

Other members of the group are Mrs. Martha Andrick, Paul Andrick, Mrs. Mary Robinette, Mrs. Ann Thomas, Mrs. Ethel Fletcher, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, Mrs. Eleanor Wineland, Mrs. Elsie Roland and Miss Wilda Winterberg. Field trips to State Roads Commission Field Office and Trial Magistrates Court have been made and a trip to City Hall to study the Cumberland Thruway plans will be scheduled.

Fort Hill Placing Renewed Interest In Science Study

Fort Hill High School students have been showing an unusual amount of interest in a large display of scientific and industrial developments, arranged in the school lobby by science classes, under direction of William Leeson, physics teacher.

The purpose of the display, Mr. Leeson explains, is two-fold. First, to create more interest among all the students in present day scientific problems and second, to create interest in the formation of an active Science Club at Fort Hill.

The display includes special exhibits from the Celanese Corporation, Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Cumberland and Allegany Gas Company, Artmor Plastics, Inc., Potomac Edison Company, Tri State Electric Company, and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

A special science assembly will be held Thursday for junior high school students. The assembly program, Mr. Leeson noted, is in two parts. The first is entitled "Science is Now Spelled Survival". The second part is entitled "Survival Nears Progress Through Education".

The entire program has been compiled and will be presented by Mr. Leeson's physics classes.

The membership campaign for the Science Club is scheduled for December 2, with both a senior and junior high school division planned. Mr. Leeson will be advisor to the senior high group and Edgar Reynolds will be advisor to the junior high group.

Through the club, science projects will be extended beyond the class room and meetings will be held with speakers and discussions.

The ultimate goal is a Science Fair with awards and scholarships, and the prime purpose, Mr. Leeson said, is to produce better science scholars and instill a science interest to help fulfill the needs of more science graduates.

Man Will Face Speeding Charge

City police last night arrested a motorist who had escaped them Saturday night after a wild chase along Cumberland streets at speeds of more than 70 miles per hour.

William E. Bowman, about 35, of 914 Gay Street, was picked up by Officers Kenneth Morrissey and Royce Clayton on a warrant obtained by Sgt. C. C. Roby.

Sgt. Roby reported he saw a car speeding along Mechanic Street about 10:30 p. m. Saturday and gave chase. The speeding motorist hit speeds exceeding 70 miles per hour and went through the Virginia Avenue subway without slackening speed. He escaped into West Virginia, but police obtained the number of his license tags.

Bowman is being held in City Jail and will be tried today in Trial Magistrates Court on three motor vehicle violations.

Effects Of Fluoridation In Baltimore Is Studied

The first study of the effectiveness, economic value and benefit to children resulting from the fluoridation of Baltimore drinking water has entered its second phase at the University of Maryland School of Dentistry in Baltimore.

Since 1952, when the fluoridation process was first used in the city, researchers, under the direction of Dr. Donald E. Shay, professor of microbiology, have examined more than 500 children between the ages of five and 12 for the extent of caries, or decay in the teeth.

"This particular group of children was chosen because it is at this age that caries involvement usually begins. Additionally, this group had not had the advantage of drinking fluoridated water since birth," Dr. Shay said. He said information gained from the examinations forms the basis for a comparison with phase two of the program.

Headsville Man Admits Burning New Creek Barn

James Cox Held For Jury Action

James Cox, 32, of Headsville, W. Va., who admitted to authorities yesterday that he set a barn on fire on New Creek Drive this past weekend, is being held in Mineral County jail in Keyser in default of $3,000 for action at the January term of the grand jury of that county.

Authorities have charged him with arson. He waived a preliminary hearing yesterday evening before Miss Madalyn Bazzle and bond was set at $3,000.

A barn and four outbuildings on the farm of John S. Arnold on New Creek Drive, three miles from Keyser, were destroyed by fire early Sunday morning.

Yesterday Cox was questioned at the Romney detachment of the West Virginia State Police by Sgt. Frank Bowley, of the state police, and C. R. Cobb of the state fire marshal's office in Charleston.

Cox was arrested at the scene by Trooper Charles C. Oliver of the West Virginia State Police and Police Chief Guy Clem of Keyser. Cox confessed to burning the barn.

The other buildings caught fire later on, authorities said. Sunday's blaze was discovered about 1:20 a. m. and it had gained such headway that the barn and other buildings were destroyed.

About 60 tons of hay were stored in the barn at the time. The flames severed two high tension wires that supply electricity to homes farther up New Creek Valley and on Knobley Mountain. Electric service was disrupted for about two hours.

Mr. Hankins said that members from other counties besides Garrett and Allegany may attend either meeting. A representative of the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council will give a report on improvements to the Marsh Mountain Ski Trail in Garrett County.
